The industry takes a bow to its unsung heroes, Authors of Maritime Text Books

When the seedlings of an idea of honouring the authors of text books came in our minds, we were unaware that the industry would give such an overwhelming response to our brainchild. Its awe-inspiring acceptance of the suggestion boosted our morale to move ahead with the idea.

Our initial discussion with Capt Navin Passey, Chairman of FOSMA, wherein he was not only excited by the idea but thought it to be a noble and fantastic one, was what prompted us to make an attempt to proceed a little further towards this end. The idea was further entrenched in our minds when we broached this subject to Capt Mahesh Yadav, Director Marine Education and Training, FOSMA and received an equally enthusiastic response. He is one of the people who helped in making the event a grand success. From drafting the concept note to the culmination of the event he helped in ensuring that it became a memorable experience for all.

In fact, almost all the stalwarts of the shipping & maritime world – and the industry, in toto – came together to support this event which brought these unsung heroes of the industry into the limelight.

The authors, on their part, were overwhelmed by the industry's appreciation of their efforts in promoting education, to enable the Indian seafarer maintain his lead in the global preferred seafarers' list.

Maritime Destination is aware that only ideas cannot make an event successful. It has to be backed by financial support, which we have thankfully received from the industry. It is mainly the shipping fraternity's support and blessings which have enabled us to make the occasion a grand success. We are thankful to D G officials, Associations (FOSMA, MASSA, INSA, ICCSA) and Unions (NUSI and MUI) for their support and efforts in ensuring the presence of their members at the event. We are especially grateful to all the authors who made it a point to be present on the occasion. They were, truly, the stars that shone the brightest!

It must be remembered that writing of instructional material for maritime books is more difficult as they have to be designed to raise students' proficiency, competency, and skills, to monitor their assimilation of information, and to contribute to the overall progress and development.

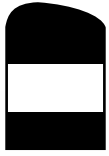

Their job becomes all the more difficult as they have to be constantly on the alert to incorporate new developments taking place in the industry in a lucid manner, which the students will be able to understand instantly. Besides this they also have to keep the students abreast of the new rules and regulations that are changing constantly. An onerous task indeed!

So let's take a bow for these unsung heroes!

Thought and Theme of ‘Honouring The Authors’, well appreciated

March 8, 2019 will be a remembered as a red letter day in the annals of shipping industry as legends of the maritime industry gathered to pay their respect to the unsung heroes of the industry who have helped the Indian seafarers become the ‘most favoured’ ones, globally. We are talking about the authors of the text books which are being followed by the training institutes to enable Indian seafarers to attain – and retain – this coveted position.

Almost all dignitaries of the industry and trade were present at the event, “Honouring the Authors” organized by Maritime Destination. Among the luminaries on the stage were the chief guest, Capt. J. C. Anand, Chairman Emeritus, Indian Register of Shipping and Guests of Honour Capt. Navin Passey Chairman of FOSMA; Capt Prashant Rangnekar, Chairman of MASSA; Mr. Anil Devli, Chief Operating Officer of INSA; Capt. Rakesh Singh, Hon. Secretary ICC Shipping Association; Mr. Amar Singh Thakur, General Secretary, MUI and Mr. Abdulgani Y Serang, General Secretary, NUSI.

Capt. Sanjay Maini, Country Head, IRI Maritime and Corporate Services Pvt Ltd, welcoming the guests, said, “It is with great honour that I welcome you all to this felicitation function ‘Honouring the Authors’. As far as I know this, perhaps, is the first ever function wherein we have all the literary Giants of the Indian Maritime World under one roof. I extend a very warm welcome to all of you, sirs. I am sure the esteemed authors have been felicitated earlier individually in many a forum but this function

Capt. J. C. Anand

where the very theme is “Honoring the Authors” is the first of its kind and I feel specially privileged this evening to be a part of it, albeit in a small way. The other day I was watching a documentary of a writer who said that everyone has ONE book within him. But putting on paper even one book is a herculean task and takes incredible amount of patience and sacrifice, as I am sure you will all agree.

“I don’t think I will ever write a book but playing a small part in this function is my humble tribute to these literary greats

They have played the most important role, one can play, in building careers for Indian seafarers and have made them one of the most sought after seafarers in the world. Just to give you an idea Indians are the 2nd largest nationality among those who work on Marshall Island flagged vessels.”

Capt J.C. Anand, the Chief Guest stated, “It is not only heartening but also a privilege to be a part of this function to recognise and honour the men of letters who have written their thoughts on maritime industry & Indian shipping. I wish to congratulate the organisers and the guests of honor who have shared the dais for supporting this wonderful initiative and function. I would like to say that the industry without note book is like body without the soul”.

Capt. Anand urged the people present from the maritime sector and intellectuals to revive and upgrade their knowledge and encourage more authors to write and share their knowledge which will benefit the shipping fraternity. He further said it was nice to have all heads of the Associations as guests of honour, on the same platform who have taken the lead in organising this event, and expect them to continue to support the next-gen authors”.

Capt. Navin Passey, Chairman of FOSMA and Chairman of Wallem Ship Management, thanked the guests for their honourable presence at this event. He stated that he was not only privileged but also humbled to be part of this august gathering. “At the risk of inviting criticism and antagonism, I may state that I believe Gagan, the organizer, has gone awry in the seating arrangement. Apart from the chief guest, Capt. J.C Anand, we are all sitting on the wrong side of the room. It is the authors, the people who have written books – which has enabled the Indian seafarers to reach the coveted position of being the most sought after – who should be over here on the manch (stage).

Capt Passey thanked everybody for taking time out to be present at the function for paying a tribute to people who taken pains to ensure that students aspiring to be able seamen are able to understand the intricacies of the job they will undertake. He said “I am reminded of the quote: ‘One good teacher, one good tutor, one good author, can educate an entire nation, and educate the entire world.’ It is indeed surprising that while we honour business people, politicians, sports people, for their contribution in individual capacity, one forgets the authors whose contribution goes way beyond.” He concluded by urging the authors to keep their pens alive.

Anil Devli, CEO of INSA, stated, “I don’t believe I have anything to add. Capt. Passey has said it all.”

Capt. Rakesh Singh, said that he fully agreed with Capt. Passey about the seating arrangement. "I feel very humble & very embarrassed, in fact, sitting here on the stage when I see likes of Capt. Subramaniam seated in the auditorium." He added "When I was walking in I saw the amazing display of books and recalled that when we started our career there were only few writers like Capt T.K.Joseph and Late. Capt. Rewari , or Capt. Subramaniam writing on stability and almost on every subject on nautical side. But today there is an array of books on display covering the entire gamut of subjects from maritime legislation to engineering. And all these have been written by Indian authors! It is indeed a proud moment!”

Capt. Prashant S Rangnekar, COO – India Operations, Elegant Marine Services Pvt. Ltd. stated, “You are doing something very unique and something which was very

He added “after you die only three things remain: (1)The institution which you built to benefit people, (2) Your children, who will pray for you and (3) A memoir or book that you have written through which they can benefit.”

He complimented the writers in the Maritime field, for sharing their knowledge, which will be helpful for thousands mariners for many years to come.

Mr. Amar Singh Thakur, General Secretary, Maritime Union of India appreciated the unique and thoughtful concept of the organisers to honor the Indian authors who provide professional knowledge through their books.

A special issue marking the occasion of Woman’s Day titled “Saluting the Spirit of Champions” published by BSN was released by Capt J.C. Anand, Chairman Emeritus, Indian Register of Shipping & Capt. Navin Passey Chairman of FOSMA & Wallem Ship Management Chairman.

Mr. Mohit Kapoor, proposed a Vote of Thanks

The Authors who were felicitated and honoured, with plaques, on the occasion were: Capt. T.K. Joseph, Capt. S.S.S. Rewari, Capt. S.K.Puri, Capt. P.M. Sharma, Capt. H. Subramaniam, Mr. K.R. Bhandarkar, Capt. Edrich Fernandes, Capt. Errol Fernandes, Capt. Mohan Naik, Capt. C.L. Dubey, Capt. S.S. Choudhary, Capt. Yashwant Chhabra, Capt. KSD.Mistry, Capt. Sinha, Mr.D.K.Sanyal, Mr.Gokaran, Mr.Jagbandhu Majumdar, Mr.A.S. Tambwekar, I.N. Bose, Mr.B.K.Sharma, Elastan Fernandes.

Brief details of the authors are given on the following pages:

necessary but never thought of before by anyone.” He wished the event great success.

Abdulgani Y Serang, General Secretary, National Union of Seafarers of India, reminiscing on his early life confessed that he felt guilty at not having visited his school for over 30 years, though he stayed close to the institution. He stated “I am fortunate to be part of this programme which pays tribute to the teachers and the authors of the books that have enabled us to be a success.”

Late Capt. S.S.S. Rewari

Books

1. Principles of Navigation
2. Stability, Trim and Cargo Calculation on MV Hindship and Oil Tankers
3. Ship's Magnetic Compass

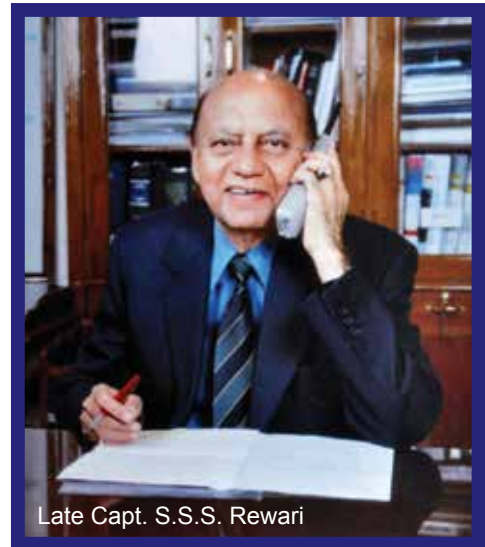

Career Highlights

- He was the Founder of Applied Research International
- He dedicated his life to the Indian seafarer from large maritime forums to simple, individual interactions.
- He was a guru, guide and guardian to his students.
- His association with the marine community began with the completion of his pre-sea training from T.S. 'Dufferin' in the '53 – 54' batch, where he secured an Extraordinary First Class.
- Capt. Rewari began his career, spanning nearly five decades, as an active seafarer and progressed through a series of remarkable academic roles that have changed the face of marine education in India.
- He received numerous academic honours including, in 1958, the highest marks in the Radar Observations Course examination.
- Capt. Rewari was awarded the President's Gold Medal in 1962 standing first in the country in the Master Mariners Examination. He completed his Extra Master's from Sir John Cass College, U.K. in 1968.
- In addition to gaining the highest marine professional qualifications, throughout his career Capt. Rewari was dedicated to continuous learning.
- Captain Rewari's sparkling career as an educationalist began in 1962 at LBS CAMSAR (Lal Bahadur Shastri College of Advanced Maritime Studies and Research, formerly LBS Nautical & Engineering College) in Mumbai

- During his 8 year tenure as Vice-Principal, LBS College he was instrumental in the commencement of some key courses for the first time in India: STCW tanker course, Extra First Class and Extra Masters.

- In 1987 Capt. Rewari took the helm as Captain Superintendent of T.S. Rajendra (Now T.S. Chanakya). His years there will be best remembered for pioneering a full fledged degree program (BSc. Nautical Sciences), affiliated to Mumbai University.

- Capt. Rewari returned to LBS in mid 1991 as Principal where he revolutionized the institution through sweeping changes such as modernizing the curriculum; completely renovating the campus; installing a Full Mission Bridge Simulator and Cargo Simulator, and arranging procurement of a Full Mission Engine Room Simulator.

- After retiring from LBS, he assumed the post of Director, Marine Education and Training, FOSMA and moved to New Delhi

- Capt Rewari then embarked on what was to become the final stroke in a glorious professional innings – the establishing of Applied Research International (ARI).

- In 2001 Capt. Rewari was presented with the Fellowship of the Nautical Institute in honour of his lifelong contribution to marine education. He was Chairman, Northern and Eastern Branch of the Nautical Institute and had served many times as a member of the UPSC Selection Board.

- The greatest honour concurred upon Capt. S.S.S. Rewari was the Varuna Award, posthumously awarded to him in 2004. This highest honour by the Ministry of Shipping, Government of India marked the contribution of Capt. Rewari in maritime education and training throughout his lifetime.

Wedding bells for Pratap Singh & Anjali Singh

Mr. Pratap Singh, son of Mr. R.C. Singh (Chairman of B.P. Marine Academy) and Mrs. Rajkumari Devi was married to Ms. Anjali Singh, daughter of Mr. Indrapal Singh and Mrs. Sangita Devi on February 13, 2019. The nuptials were held with aplomb at Hotel Taj Vivanta Lucknow.

The reception, held with grandeur, at J.W. Marriott Mumbai, was attended by family and friends of Mr. R.C. Singh, who is a well known dignitary in the maritime industry. His son Pratap Singh, who is following in his footsteps is a Second Engineer in the Merchant navy and is aspiring to become a Chief Engineer soon. His wife, Ms. Anjali Singh is M.A. in sociology.

Maritime Destination wishes both of them a long and happy wedded life.

MSC spreads social consciousness

MSC, which is on a mission to spread awareness of keeping the environs clean and green, organized a “Clean, Green Environment” drive on March 7, 2019 in Mumbai.

The drive, involved cleaning of the roads around the organisation’s Andheri office, painting of the various plant pots on the road as well as distribution of free plant saplings. Everybody from the MSC office, including Capt M.P. Bhasin, Managing Director of the Company, participated in this environment awareness programme.

Plants like Tulsi, Neem and other healthy flora were avidly grabbed by all and sundry who were appreciative of the idea of keeping the city clean and green.

The mission of keeping the environs clean and healthy has been an endeavour of the company since the last several years and it has been conducting such drives on a regular basis at different places.
